DAILY EXAMINER.

Local Intelligence.

Large. The crowds at the Swiss B. Traggers entertainment last night.

The Pier Pion. Foregives any number of these splendid implements on hand.

The Bell Ringers. Were on hand last night, and it is no saving too much to say, that all were delighted.

Rickey Hall. As a place of amusement is very popular and all the first class companies go there.

Tired. The toys who danced until the "wee small hours," at the Purim Masquerade.

Capt. O. H. Davenport. Of Station Creek, Coryell county, called to see up yesterday. The captain represents the neighborhood he has from, as going on rapidly to improve meets.

But few. Strangers were in town yesterday, and the farmers are busy in their crops, so but little business was done.

Bee Culture. We understand that a gentle man of this city expects soon to enter largely upon this delightful as well as profitable enterprise.

"The Dismal Swamp." Is located just beyond the "fur end" of the bridge, but the fellow that "all night long paddled his own canoe" is absent.

Energetie. Charley come down on it so hard, and his off its no so well sustained, that the soles of his boots were decurred snese by a committee yesterday. Charley don't propose to ball any more, for some time to come.

Removal. H. C. Fallon has removed his hardware store to the house formerly occupied by Peterson & Blaiford, a few doors below his old stand. He will be glad to meet his old friends and customers in his new quarters, and from our personal knowledge of the business probity and other good qualities of the firm in question, we are prepared to say that they will get as large a trade in their new stand, as in the old, and that is about all that can be said.

The Masquerade. The Purim Ball Thursday night did not disappoint the general expectations. The attendance was very large, and the characters represented, very numerous and most of them exceedingly well sustained. The Grand Promenade was led by Mr. S. Sanger and wife in plain dress, and then followed the makers male and female in long and glittering lines. The delightful music was furnished by Prof. Kraus' ball orchestra. The refreshments were in keeping with the splendid scale of the affair in other respects. The management and the gents men on the general committee, deserve the greatest praise for the spiritual and liberal arrangements. On the whole, we are pleased to record a great social triumph, and we only regret that the Purim Festival comes but once a year. We left at quite an early hour, and consequently did not make notes of the costumes, and will not attempt a description.

Mutually.

We called at the office of the Southern Life Insurance Company, and found the Agent, Col. A. M. Hamill, and his polite and efficient business man, Mr. J. G. Garrison, busy with their February report. We were amazed to find that their policies amounted to $260,000 for that month alone. Col. Hamill has placed his faith in the "Mutual" plan, and certainly, judging from his February business, it was well placed. In properly estimating this result, it should be borne in mind that the country is new and sparsely settled, and the territory covered by Col. H. is simply immense. The operations of this company are only on a scale to compare favorably with the other legitimate business enterprises of our young city. We will have more to say on this subject in a few days, and, in the meantime, success, say we, to Col. H., Mr. Garrison and the "Southern Life."

MARRIED.

BEAN-WORTHAM.—At the residence of Mrs. Taylor, Mr. George Bean, of Meridian, to Miss Eliza Wortham, of Beaumont.

With the above announcement came the usual remembrance of the printer. The EXAMINER office drinks a long and joyous life to the happy couple.

COTTON MOVEMENT.

The movement in the staple, yesterday, was only nominal, as the "inclemency of the weather" somewhat dampened the action of dealers. We saw one table of thirty bales, the samples of which classed ordinary, as an entirety. The holders of this lot were firm, and buyers stood off awaiting a "bear," no doubt. Ere long the market will be entirely bare. This is no joy.

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting that prince of good fellows, Col. Chasley Gibbs, of the G. H. & H. R. R. Chas., a Texas welcome always greets us at the EXAMINER office: our latch string hangs on the outside.

Mr. Alonso Robinson, of Austin, paying a visit to his brother, Wm. T. Robinson, the dry goods merchant on the Square.

We are glad to welcome our handsome young friend, George Gillean, back to Waco, after a winter sojourn in East Texas—the scenes of his boyhood.

THE UP FREIGHTS.

At this station, yesterday, "panned out" heavily. In the list we notice a big lot of agricultural implements.

OUR FRIEND.

Mick Egan, in "pacing his lonely beat," in the rain, yesterday, reminded one of the "Lone Picket on the Potomac" that Lamar Fontaine sang so sweetly about. After the storm comes a lull, you know, Mick.

Waco Has.

Voted the hog law, and to have hogs you must feed them. Then, how much cheaper it is to feed fine hogs than the razor backs. So attend the auction today at Jack Pierce's, and suit yourselves in a pair of those thorough-bred Berkshires. They sell without reserve. Jack has many other things to sell, and those wishing bargains can have them by being on hand when Bro. Platt shoots off his buzzard.

THE SPRING.

Time has come, gentle Annie, and, by the way, it is the very time to call at Jackson & Knight's Gallery for pictures of every description.

WANTED!
